FACE CELEBRATES 60 YEARS OF MINISTRY AND SERVICE

FACE hosted a gathering of the “Christian history family” on October 18, 2024. The event included those far and wide who have responded to the ideal of America, her Christian-principle-rooted history, and who are at work in many ways teaching and restoring it, which is America’s mission. We recognized and appreciated the many whose work contributed to carrying the FACE mission for six decades—a providential history and one that God has prepared for the times we now experience.

We honored the founders of FACE, Verna Marie Hall, historian, researcher, teacher, and leader; and Rosalie June Slater, writer, teacher, and mother-figure to the Christian history family.

Their vision lives on by God’s hand to reach this milestone when its influence is most relevant and needed.

THE PRINCIPLE APPROACH®

Since its beginning, the FACE mission has not wavered: to teach America’s historic method of Biblical reasoning, The Principle Approach®. This manner of education gives our children the wisdom, knowledge, and understanding to help restore and sustain the greatest civil liberty and prosperity mankind has ever known. We are commanded by Scripture to begin with the children, generation to generation, educating them multi-generationally to reason from Biblical principles of liberty.

The FACE mission has survived fifteen presidential administrations, several wars, economic ups and downs, and, sadly, the loss of the memory of America’s unique and essential national purpose. Providentially, this mission has been preserved and functions today to show the way back to the blessedness and freedom God intended for His people. It is a message of hope, believing in the goodness of God to restore and rebuild.

WE GRATEFULLY CELEBRATE!

We celebrate those who have secured, sustained, and furthered the original vision for the children. Thank you for your commitment, unwavering support, and many prayers.

With your help, we will again know an America dedicated to liberty and the Biblical ideas that make us free.

TEACH THE CHILDREN.

Gratefully,

Carole G. Adams, President

TEACHING, PUBLISHING, AND SAFEGUARDING AMERICA'S CHRISTIAN HISTORY

From their decades of extensive historical research and intense scriptural study, Misses Hall and Slater deduced seven principles of America's Christian history and government that were instrumental in producing unprecedented individual and civil liberty and economic prosperity Americans enjoy. Learning these principles revolutionized the Kilkenny's understanding of how liberty grows in a nation.

-The Kilkennys

I am reminded of the passage in Acts 13 that refers to David's life. I believe it could also be said: "And when Rosalie Slater served the purposes of God in her own generation, she slept with her fathers..." I am vividly aware that her obedience to the holy calling on her life has impacted us at Dayspring Christian Academy. She is, most assuredly, a "key individual" on our timeline.

Michael Myers

I was offered an opportunity to teach an Abigail Adams literature class, and my preparation included reading lengthy biographies and challenging primary sources of America's founding, and studying the philosophy and principles found in the treasury of FACE's Christian history volumes! Just as I was spiritually born again as an adult, so it was in meeting the Pilgrims and Founding Fathers through my reeducation in our faculty group study, my intellect was awakened and nourished! I am forever grateful for the seminal work of Verna Hall and Rosalie June Slater.

Elizabeth Youmans

I remember meeting Rosalie and Verna on some of my travels with my father, John Talcott Jr. I specifically remember them because they took the time out of their busy lives to share their books and knowledge with us.

-John Talcott III

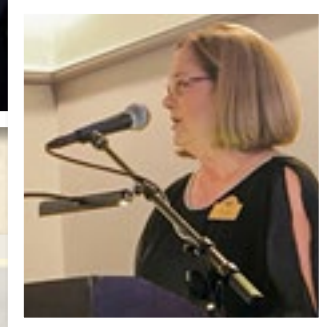

Rosalie taught me more than anyone else to fix my mind on those things that are above and eternal, to mind those things that are purposeful and significant, and to be a producer and a contributor rather than just a consumer.

Rosalie's time on earth was a visible demonstration of genuine enthusiasm for all that is good and worthwhile in this life.

Christi Moorman

The influence of the Ladies and the work of FACE is incalculable. May the Lord carry this legacy forward until the fulfillment of all things.

The Kirk Family

We flew to San Francisco and met Verna Hall and Rosalie Slater. I remember sitting in their living room with tears streaming down my face because of their dedication to this country, their relentless energy, and that we, through sins of omission and commission were part of the problem. We were being given an opportunity to become a part of saving America. This meeting had a profound impact on our lives and changed the fundamental purpose of our business from simply making money to setting us on a course to restoring our nation.

-Georgia Morash

We were welcomed with open arms and invited to enter the world of Principle Approach philosophy, curriculum, and methodology. I became convinced of the superiority of the Principle Approach. I loved and taught Providential history.

-Max Lyons

The resources, experience and foundational pioneering done by Verna Hall and Rosalie Slater will be an inspiration to future generations upon whose shoulders the discipleship of nations, as Christ's inheritance, will rest.

-Paul Jehle.

The Ladies," as they were affectionately called, presented everything within and without their home from the well-ordered view of life that was prominent in early America.

In short, everything revealed an American Christian view of God, man, and government. Little did I know that day, "The Ladies" would change my life forever... Miss Slater spread her wings over her fledgling teachers, directing, encouraging, and inspiring them through her loving personality and generous heart... One never left the Foundation feeling empty, but hungry for more.

Beth Ballenger

We were introduced to Verna and Rosalie when my husband, Ben was asked to pick up some leaders from Youth with a Mission at the San Francisco airport. These two ladies had started a Foundation based on God's hand in the founding of The United States... Following that introduction, they came to our home in Morgan Hill and taught a seminar... Those years are life changing.

Fran Gilmore

I started learning about primary source documents and the 1828 dictionary... and it created a hunger in me to know the truth I hadn't felt this hunger or need to know since I was born again, and the feeling still hasn't left. The quality of the people, the integrity, the scholarship... the overall principles set at the Foundation are what I love.

Setting priorities. Staying focused. Getting stronger. Making an impact.

Our mission remains steadfast

We teach and publish America's Christian history and educational philosophy based on Biblical principles. The Word of God is the source of civil and religious liberty and the foundation of all learning and every issue in life. We publish and teach the philosophy, curriculum and methods that model the original form of American Christian education. By teaching families, churches, and the nation, we hope to restore Christian self-government and character generationally.
